

Airclad XPO

Unusual architecture for temporary events and installations – that's what AirClad XPO is about. The modular structure of an aluminium frame clad with air cushions opens up fun new ways to present live communication.

Strengths

Under normal conditions, AirClad XPO needs no base and no additional weighting to guarantee stability. The airbags that are supplied with constant fresh air by a quiet air-blower protect against wind and down-pours and can be heated or used with air conditioning.

Use

This unusual structure combines the lightness and mobility of a tent with the stability and feel of a built installation. AirClad XPO is therefore fabulous for outdoor promotional events and makes a great temporary point of sale, or even an event venue.

Its unusual architecture makes AirClad XPO eye-catching from the outside and creates a modern space with clean lines on the inside. As a result, there are practically no limits to the internal layout, and the exterior surfaces are suitable for attractive branding decoration.
